

About Makor Miriam

Makor

Miriam is the sisterhood of Beit HaShofar Synagogue in Seattle, WA. Women of all ages, from Bat Mitzvah age and up, come together for L'shem Shamayim (the sake of Heaven).

Makor

Miriam is a deep well to suit the tastes and aspirations of our women. We offer a Rosh Chodesh stitch circle, a reading group called Ayni, movie evenings, melaveh malkahs as a source for learning, opportunities to do tzedakah for the greater community, facilitate Kiddush and other simchot, host Mah Jongg fever, and provide a wellspring of information and inspiration for Jewish living in Mashiach - in person as well as online.

We

are also a part of the UMJC (Union of Messianic Jewish Congregations) national sisterhood called Achat. In partnering with Achat, some of our tzedakah projects help support their main tzedakah projects. Please see our link in the menu side bar to learn more about Achat.

In

addition, we give a tithe portion of our members' dues to JWI (Jewish Women International). This organization is crucial in combating domestic abuse in Jewish communities worldwide and helping victims of domestic abuse. JWI offers advocacy for women and empowers women to maintain healthier relationships and lives. We believe strongly in their mission and encourage our own women to be advocates for healthy relationships and lives. Please see our advocacy link on the home page to learn more about JWI.
